PREPARING FOR MURDER TRIAL

Court Officials Expect to Maintain Order During Case Which Begins Wednesday.

NO STANDING TO BE ALLOWED

John Kiplinger and Coroner Shauck's
Visit to Indianapolis Has Bearing on Case.

Preparations are being made for the trial of the State against Paul Harris, accused of murdering his mother, which will begin in the circuit court next Wednesday. The attorneys for Paul Harris and for the State are busily engaged in preparing their sides of the case for trial.

John H. Kiplinger, who was yesterday appointed by Judge Blair to assist the prosecutor and his deputy in the prosecution, and Coroner A. G. Shauck of Arlington, who has been actively engaged in ferreting out the mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. L. B. Harris, at her country home, northeast of here, Tuesday, March 12, went to Indianapolis today on a mission in connection with the case.

If present plans are carried out the court will not tolerate any jams in the court room during the trial. Preparations are being made to install more seats in the court room for the coming trial. Judge Blair has said that he will allow no standing in the court room. It will be the aim of the court to maintain perfect order all during the hearing. When the seats are all filled, it is intended to lock the doors to the court room.

These precautions are said to have been taken because of the belief that there will be an immense crowd in the court room during the time that Paul Harris is being tried. On account of the enormity of the crime with which Paul Harris stands charged, and on account of the prominence of the family involved in the community, the interest in the case is expected to be as great if not greater than that which has been evinced in any case ever called for trial before the Rush circuit court.

There is a growing belief that John H. Kiplinger will be the only attorney employed to assist the State in the prosecution. Ed K. Adams of Shelbyville has been mentioned in this connection, but it was said today that it was very probable that he would not be retained.

The reason for this is said to be the fact that the court has an appropriation of only five hundred dollars with which to pay the expenses of this case. There are a number of minor expenses attached which will soon eat a hole in the appropriation which was asked by Judge Blair at the last session of the county council.

John Kiplinger of the prosecution is very reticent concerning his visit to Connersville yesterday afternoon. He refused to state whether or not he learned any new features in connection with the case. The Connersville News of last night says he was there on the Harris case and speaks of the rumor prevailing there that Paul Harris attempted to buy a revolver in a Connersville hardware store and was refused.

CONTRACTS SIGNED.

The contracts for the new Carnegie library building, to be erected at Knightstown, which had been held up in the east for three weeks or more, were returned to Dr. Ver M. Chappell, president of the library board on Wednesday morning, duly approved and signed, so that the way is now open for the work of building to begin.

EX-PRESIDENT WILL TALK

George C. Wyatt to Appear Before
State Funeral Directors.

George C. Wyatt of this city, ex-president of the State Funeral Directors Association, will read a paper before the members of the organization at their annual convention in Indianapolis next week. He is on the program Wednesday morning, and the subject of his paper will be "Church Funerals." The convention will be in session Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

WILL RUSHVILLE GET AN AEROPLANE?

There is One Detailed to Talk to the Denizens in Every Town in the Three States.

ANOTHER NEWSPAPER QUERY

"Materialize aeroplane plans your city, 100."

These were the words in a telegram received by the Daily Republican this morning from the Central News Bureau of Chicago. It is what is known as a query in newspaper parlance. It signifies that a story concerning alleged aeroplanes that will pass some place over Indiana, according to the present intentions, next month, is worth a hundred words, and the dispatch asks in sum and substance if the newspaper would like to pay for the story.

It is very probable the dispatch would say that an aeroplane had been detailed to stop in Rushville and chat with the loungers around the court house square a few minutes. A few days ago this same news bureau sent out a very similar query to about every daily newspaper in Indiana, Illinois and Iowa. Some fell for it and others didn't. Newspapers in the four corners of Indiana ordered the dispatch, and they all read alike, that an airship was to stop in their town during a flight in connection with an aero club meet. The chances are against Rushville having a special aeroplane with so many other contesting cities.

THEY MAKE SECOND INSPECTION TOUR

Trip of I. & C. Officials Over "Bull Town Route" Today Said to be Significant.

THIS ONE MAY BE FAVORED

That the "Bull Town Route" looks good to the officials of the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company was indicated today when the president of the interurban line, Charles L. Henry, and two directors, made a second trip of inspection over the proposed route of extension to Cincinnati. The two directors were John J. Appel and John B. Beasley of Indianapolis. The party of officials went in an automobile from a local garage by way of New Salem, Andersonville, Brookville and Harrison, Ohio, and on into Cincinnati. The route from this city is the only one which has been "favored" with a second tour of inspection. The officials went over the proposed route from Greensburg and then the one from this city some time ago. Both have been surveyed and the office work on the statistics gathered is being done.

LIFE OF ACTIVE WOMAN CLOSES

Mrs. Anna Hunt, Age 76, Well Known
Member of Carthage Friends Church, Dies.

CITIZENS EDITOR'S MOTHER

She Was Trustee of Wilmington College Number of Years—
Funeral Monday.

Mrs. Anna Hunt, age seventy-six, former member of the board of trustees of Wilmington College and mother of Miss Florence Hunt, editor of the Carthage Citizen, died this morning at her home in Carthage from the infirmities of old age.

Mrs. Hunt had been in poor health for three years. For a few days before her death it was not expected she would survive long. She resided with her daughter, Miss Florence Hunt in Carthage.

Mrs. Hunt would have been seventy-seven years of age next Friday, the twenty-fourth of this month. Mrs. Hunt was born in Carthage in 1835 and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Henley of Carthage. She spent all of her life in Carthage with the exception of twenty years that she resided in Martinsville, Ohio.

On May 7, 1868, Mrs. Hunt was married to Aaron B. Hunt of Martinsville. She went there to live and remained there until after her husband died April, 1883. Shortly after her husband's death Mrs. Hunt returned to Carthage for residence.

While residing in Martinsville Mrs. Hunt was elected a member of the board of trustees of Wilmington College at Wilmington, Ohio. She served in that capacity for a number of years. Mrs. Hunt also held a number of important positions in the Friends church during her active life.

Born in the Quaker community of Carthage, Mrs. Hunt grew up to womanhood under the benign influences of the Friends' belief and became an ardent member of the church. During her life she was always active in the church at Carthage and was identified with all of the things that tended toward the betterment of the community. Mrs. Hunt was a school teacher in the vicinity of Carthage in her earlier days before she was married.

Mrs. Hunt is survived by one daughter, in Carthage, one son, Gurney L. Hunt of Boston; one sister, Mrs. A. O. Hill of Carthage; two brothers, Owen S. Henley of Carthage and Elwood Henley of Carmel, Ind.

The funeral services will be held at the Friends church in Carthage Monday morning at ten o'clock, conducted by the Rev. J. Edgar Williams of that church. The body will be shipped to Martinsville, Ohio, Monday afternoon and brief services will be held there some time Tuesday. Burial will take place in Martinsville.

HEAD CAUGHT IN TREE FORK

Young Colt Met Death in Peculiar Manner.

A young colt, owned by Frank Warrick, living two and one-half miles southwest of here, met death in a peculiar manner last night. The colt got its head fast in the fork of a small tree about three feet from the ground and when found its neck was broken. In trying to free itself the neck was broken, and when found the head was still in the tree fork. The animal was eight weeks old and was considered very valuable.

ASSESSMENT MAY BE SMALLER

Ravages of Hog Cholera Believed to Have Reduced Personal Property in County.

FOUR TOWNSHIPS STILL OUT

Auditor Believes Rushville City and Township May Redeem Townships Which Lost.

With four of the twelve townships in the county out it appears that the valuation of personal property in Rush county this year will be less than it was last year. But the returns from Rushville city and the township outside the corporate limits are not in yet, and this may change the complexion of the results of this year's assessment.

Only personal property was assessed this year. Real estate is assessed every four years, and last year the time for such assessment. Wednesday was the last day for taking assessments, as prescribed by law. The assessors are given three days in which to make their returns to the county auditor. Thus it will be seen today was the last day for them to report. At noon they were all in except those from Orange, Rushville, Washington and Noble.

If there is a loss in property valuation this year, as compared with last, and there is very likely to be one shown by the assessors' returns unless Rushville township makes a large gain, it will be due largely to the ravages of hog cholera last fall and winter. This is the opinion of Jesse Stone, county auditor, the county assessor, John F. Moses, and a number of farmers.

There is a precipitable loss in cash this year in the eight townships that have already reported. This is believed to be due to partial failure of the corn crop last fall, which did not bring as much financial return as it generally does, and which accordingly made inroads on the farmers' bank accounts.

"In the eight townships that are already in," said the county auditor today, "the total loss is greater than the total gain, which makes a loss in the eight townships. There was a slight gain in property valuation in some townships, but the losses in other townships more than offset the gain."

"I believe that Rushville township and the city of Rushville will show a big gain in personal property over last year. It will have to show a very big increase however, to make a gain in the whole county over last year. And too, if the three townships out yet would all show a gain instead of a loss there is a strong possibility that the county may yet stand a chance for an increase in personal property."

The assessor's books show the total valuation of all the personal property in their township, the number of polls and the number of male and female dogs. In Ripley township, Carthage corporation, Posey township and Washington township the assessors' recapitulations do not account for the dogs in the township. This is thought to be an oversight as it is hardly believed to be possible that those four county divisions could be free of dogs.

Walker township's personal property is valued at $1,324,490, there are 235 polls and no dogs in the township, according to the assessors' return.

Richland township assessment, $1,080,680; polls, 144; dogs, 109. Anderson township, total assessment, $1,656,780; polls, 301; dogs, 174.

Jackson township, total assessment

951,090; polls, 121; dogs, 107. Center township, total assessment, $1,474,180; polls, 219; dogs, 150. Posey township, total assessment, $1,411,735; polls, 256; dogs, none. Carthage corporation, total assessment, $389,865; polls, 137; dogs, none. Ripley township, total assessment, $1,276,000; polls, 166; dogs, none. Glenwood corporation, total assessment, $75,085; polls, 50; dogs, 9. Union township, total assessment, $1,373,725; polls, 179; dogs, 143.

DISAPPEARED FROM HOME

Chief McAllister Found Martha Dunwoodie in Connersville.

Chief of police McAllister went to Connersville yesterday afternoon and returned with Martha Dunwoodie, who disappeared from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Dunwoodie here yesterday morning. Chief McAllister found the girl working in a restaurant. She was taken before Deputy Prosecutor Wallace Morgan and on a promise that she would remain at home, no action was taken.

NOONDAY BLAZE DID SMALL DAMAGE

Sparks From Engine Supposed to Have Caused Fire at Home of Lenroy Cox.

MISS COX ALONE AT THE TIME

Fire, supposed to have started from a spark from a Pennsylvania freight train, did small damage to the home of Lenroy Cox, 607 North Morgan street this afternoon shortly before one o'clock. The fire started in the roof directly over the kitchen and had probably been burning for an hour before it was discovered.

The blaze was in a difficult place to locate and it was necessary for the firemen to cut several holes in the roof. About the only damage resulting was to the roof and a slight loss from water to the kitchen. The house is owned by Mrs. Frank Mock and the loss is fully covered by insurance.

Miss Zelma Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lenroy Cox, was alone in the house at the time. Mr. and Mrs. Cox went to Indianapolis on the 12 o'clock car. Miss Cox says there was no fire burning in the house and as a northbound freight passed about one hour before the discovery it is thought a spark caused the blaze.

DISCOVERY RECALLS ACCIDENT OF A QUARTER OF A CENTURY AGO

Newspaper Found in the Puntenney
Building Describes Death of Dr.
David Rawles Here.

FRED CAPP SHOWING HORSE

A copy of the Weekly Jacksonian of June 7, 1877, was found today in the walls of the Puntenney building in Main street. The building is being given a stucco finish and a new front is being installed which accounts for the find.

The chief interest in the find is the "dead" story on the front page which describes a runaway in which Dr. David Rawles of Connersville was

FATHER CLAIMS HIS ERRING CHILD

Man Said to be From Rushville is Reunited With His Daughter in Indianapolis.

GIRL RESCUED FROM RESORT

Resemblance of Father and Offspring
Causes Judge to Recognize Relationship at Once.

"She's your daughter," said Judge Collins, as soon as he gazed upon the features of a Rushville citizen who called at the judge's private quarters Thursday.

That's the way a story in last night's edition of the Indianapolis Sun reads. The identity of the Rushville citizen is not known. The other two Indianapolis newspapers carried articles about the redemption of a girl by her father, but his residence was not given. The Sun continued:

The girl in question is the one taken from a resort by Sergt. Streit the day she applied for admission. She told Judge Collins in court Wednesday at the matinee session for women that she had been unable to obtain work after her husband deserted her, and made the step for admission as a last resort.

In appearance she is neat looking and pretty, so much above the average of women who are brought into police court, that Judge Collins, without knowing her story, had her case set for special hearing. When he heard Sergt. Streit's story he complimented the officer for his action, saying that it was the best work an officer could do.

The girl was slated under a fictitious name and gave her home as Peru, but when her father read the first vague accounts of her case he thought it was his daughter and came to Indianapolis on the first train. Judge Collins knew him for the father of the girl as soon as he saw his features, and sent him to the Faith Home to get her.

The girl was refused admission at the resort because she looked too young, but would not turn away, saying she must have a roof over her head and wanted to work in the kitchen if nothing else was possible. She was taken in and held until the police could be notified. Judge Collins complimented the resort keeper upon her humanity, suggesting that she must have a streak of gold somewhere in her nature despite the business she is promoting.

killed. Although a man's life was lost there is a humorous side to the accident which is recalled to many older men of Rushville who remember it well. Dr. Rawles came over here to inspect a horse which Fred Capp had for sale. While the animal was being shown to the prospective buyer, it frightened and ran away. Dr. Rawles leaped from the buggy and was killed. Fred Capp remained in and escaped unscratched.

The paper was found in the walls of the second story of the building which is now occupied by Howard E. Barrett. George Puntenney, Sr., who is now dead, formerly had his law office there, and this is supposed to account for the paper being found there, because Mr. Puntenney once owned and edited the Jacksonian.

Courses in Animal Husbandry

By J. H. SKINNER, School of Agriculture, Purdue University
Purdue University Agricultural Extension

Students in the Eight Weeks' Course Judging Beef Cattle.
The department of animal husbandry of the Purdue school of agriculture and experiment station is maintained for the purpose of finding out and giving students and practical farmers the information necessary to make a success of live stock. The department has a staff of trained men constantly investigating problems, and disseminating information on all phases of animal husbandry.

The Four-Year Course.

The instruction is given, first, to resident students; second, to non-resident students, consisting mostly of farmers actively engaged on the land. There are two main classes of students in animal husbandry in the university—those in the four-year course and those in the eight weeks' course. A one week's course is also offered to farmers. Students in the four-year course in agriculture, taking animal husbandry, receive thorough training through lectures, laboratory exercises and practical demonstration in judging and selecting all classes of farm animals, including poultry, for breeding purposes and the market. Hundreds of the best specimens obtainable are brought before the students in these courses. Flocks and herds of pure bred animals, under the best practical methods of managing and handling them, are maintained on the university farm where they are available to the students for study and observation. Large numbers of animals involved in various experiments relating to feeding, breeding, etc., are under the observation of the students throughout the year. Courses in the management, breeding, feeding and production, including the study and discussion of scientific principles and the best methods used on well regulated, successful farms in this and other states, give the students a knowledge of all phases of the business, which should enable them to make a success of their work. The results of experimental work and successful breeders and feeders throughout the country are summarized and studied in the class room. Students taking the four-year course not only

Aid Vocational Plan.

If public sentiment on the vocational education plan may be correctly measured by the letters received, there is little doubt but that the time is ripe for active work along industrial lines. Just what this action will bring forth is, of course, a matter for speculation. Indiana teachers, however, who wish to fit themselves for aiding in the movement, should prepare now for the work. Purdue's Summer School for Teachers, to be held from June 17th to July 20th, will prepare teachers for the handling of elementary work in agriculture, domestic science and manual training. Many applications have been received, and there is every assurance that the innovation will be a success. By taking this summer school work, the teachers will be in a position to impart the rudiments of the vocational courses and to "grow with their own work." The Purdue Agricultural Extension department will send an illustrated pamphlet, describing the work, to persons requesting same.

Ensilage for Steers.

The Indiana experiment station at Purdue has carried on feeding tests with silage for several years past and has lately published the data gathered. One of the facts that should be of value to every feeder of steers was that when corn silage was added to a ration of shelled corn, cottonseed meal and clover hay the result was a more rapid as well as a cheaper gain and a higher finish on the cattle; that obtain training in animal husbandry, but in addition receive instruction which will enable them to successfully build up and maintain soil fertility, improve the quality and yield of crops, successfully care for their orchards, gardens and dairy products. They also study English, history, economics and the sciences.

Short Courses.

The eight weeks' winter course in animal husbandry is planned to meet the needs of those who cannot be away from the farm during the growing season, and who from necessity demand a shorter course. Students in this course receive instruction in all phases of animal husbandry work, and owing to the fact that their time is practically all devoted to animal husbandry subjects they are able to obtain much valuable instruction in this brief period.

Instruction for Farmers.

Thousands of farmers have not had and never will have the advantage of a college course. Therefore instruction in animal husbandry is offered in farmers' short courses, farmers' institutes and in meetings of feeders and breeders held at the university, and in other parts of the state. The short courses provide instruction in judging, which should enable the farmer to learn to discriminate against inferior and undesirable animals for breeding and feeding purposes, while representative types of animals are exhibited where the farmer can study them and thus become familiar with the best types. Lectures and discussions are given on breeding, feeds and feeding and management of the various classes of animals. Instruction is also given in boys' judging contests at county and state fairs. Exhibits showing results of experimental work, courses of instruction, photographs of equipment and stock on the university farm are displayed at various county and state fairs. By writing directly to the department, where their questions are answered by members of the staff, hundreds of farmers are assisted in their work and in the solution of their problems.

cattle fed corn silage shed their coats earlier in the spring; that a smaller quantity of grain was consumed when silage was fed; that the steers receiving cottonseed meal and corn silage fattened more rapidly, required less finish, distributed the fat more evenly and brought a higher market price than similar cattle that did not receive the two feeds.

Pasture Crops.

Another circular which is demanding consideration in view of the disastrous effects of the drouth and unfavorable weather conditions on last year's clover crop, is "Supplementary Pasture Crops," by F. C. King of the department of animal husbandry, and Prof. M. L. Fisher of the Purdue soils and crops department. The circular suggests the use of rape, cow-peas, soy beans, Canadian field peas, etc., to return prompt food values, as well as the planting, under favorable conditions, of oats, rye, vetch, crimson clover, sorghum, root crops, pumpkins, etc. This circular, No. 35, may be had upon application to the Purdue experiment station, La Fayette, Ind.

The effect of liming on Indiana soils as a means of neutralizing harmful acids in the soil is the basis of study contained in Circular 33, recently issued by the soils and crops department of the Purdue experiment station. The bulletin covers the question exhaustively, showing under what conditions and in what quantities lime should be applied.

"Politics" Playing a Part in Election of Bishops.

SECOND BALLOT FRUITLESS

When This Announcement Was Made the Backers of Those Showing Highest in the Voting Began to Form Their Lines With a View to Landing Their Respective Candidates Within the Breastworks of the Elect.

Minneapolis, May 18.—There was no election of bishops on the second ballot of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. D. G. Downey of New York was first, with 383 votes; W. O. Shepard of Chicago second, with 378, and M. S. Hughes of Pasadena, Cal., third, with 369—necessary to elect, 527. With the election on the first ballot of Homer C. Stuntz of New York, secretary of the foreign mission board, as bishop, and with four of the others who received more than 300 votes in the first ballot holding church offices, general conference "politics" has been given an impetus in another direction.

The other members among the eight highest on the first ballot who hold positions which it is in the power of the conference to fill or who have places which it is considered an honor to attain are Rev. Mr. Downey, corresponding secretary of the board of Sunday schools; R. J. Cooke, New York, book editor; R. E. Jones, negro, New Orleans, editor; F. J. McConnell, Greenville, Ind., president of DePauw university.

Other candidates who received 200 or more votes on the first ballot are: Matt Hughes, pastor, Pasadena, whose brother, Edwin H. Hughes, now is a bishop; W. O. Shepard, district superintendent, Chicago; N. Luccock, pastor, Kansas City, Mo., and Andrew Gillies, pastor, Minneapolis.

LOST THEIR CHARTER

Republicans of Louisiana Cease to Exist as an Organization.

Baton Rouge, La., May 18.—As an organization the Republican party no longer exists in Louisiana. Its franchise was lost when official returns of the April elections were read in the joint session of the general assembly and the result formally promulgated.

Only 4,961 votes were cast for the Republican candidates, and as this is less than the 10 per cent required by state law, the organization no longer exists.

The only way that the names of the nominees can be placed on the tickets in the future is by petition, as has been the case with independent candidates. The forfeit of the franchise also prevents the party from availing itself of the provisions of the state primary law.

BROOM CAPTURED

North Dakota Sheriff Takes Alleged Murderer of Wade Robinson.

Marion, Ind., May 18.—Word has been received here that Ralph E. Broom, aged twenty-eight, who is suspected of being one of the murderers of Wade Robinson, a merchant of Landessville, on the night of Dec. 28 last, has been captured at New Rockford, N. D. The sheriff at Rugby, N. D., who captured him, will receive $500 reward. William Allison, Brown's companion at the time of the murder, is still at large.

Wade Robinson was shot down by masked robbers when he resisted their effort to hold him up and rob his store.

Killed Off the Leader.

Melilla, Morocco, May 18.—The fighting about Melilla two days ago was very fierce, all the four Spanish columns being engaged against the natives. There were several bayonet and cavalry charges. Three officers and sixty-five men were wounded. El Mizion, who has been the most active of the leaders of the Moors during the past four years, was killed.

Baby Smothered by Cat.

Washington, Ind., May 18.—A cat caused the death of the infant daughter of Ira Rose, a farm laborer. The cat crawled into the crib where the child was sleeping and went to sleep on its face. Death resulted from suffocation.

Look For Quality First

when you are making your selection of a vehicle and you will have one that will give you satisfaction. Too many people when they are ready to buy a vehicle make up their mind that they want a certain kind of a dash or a certain color cloth or some other thing that is of no importance in the wearing qualities of a buggy and when they find what they are looking for in this respect they buy the buggy and never question the quality of it. The result is that they have a buggy that suits them for a month or two and then when it begins to go wrong they find that they have overlooked the fact that quality is the real thing to look for when making a purchase. It is not necessary to sacrifice your pet hobbies in buying a buggy for we have most every style on our sample floor that is made and we can show you right on our sample floor that our buggies have quality as well as style and in a way that will satisfy you that the quality is there. Mrs. J. M. Hinshaw, 235 So. 14th St., Richmond had a severe pain in her back and other indications of kidney trouble. She heard of the curative qualities of Foley Kidney Pills and took them. She says: "I was entirely relieved from the backache, my kidney action improved and I am now all over my trouble. I gladly recommend Foley Kidney Pills." F. B. Johnson & Co.

Mrs. McCulloch Demands Damages.
Terre Haute, Ind., May 18.—Suit for $10,000 damages has been filed by Mrs. Lillian McCulloch against Dr. J. R. Spigler of this city for injuries received when she was shot by the physician last December.

Taken Back to Winchester.
Winchester, Ind., May 18.—Orville Clements was arrested at Muncie and returned to this county to answer to the charge of forgery. He is said to have forged eleven notes on a firm at Lynn, south of here.

He Gave No Reason.
Bellmore, Ind., May 18.—Walter Lamb, aged eighteen, shot himself with suicidal intent. He left a note to his parents, saying he intended to kill himself, but giving no reason.

Mrs. N. J. McPike, 470 Huntington St., Wabash, had severe kidney trouble, resulting from catarrh, which apparently poisoned her entire system. While at its worst she began taking Foley Kidney Pills and says: "They seemed to give immediate relief. The first few doses stopped the backache, and eventually cured the inflammation and strengthened the kidneys. I cannot recommend them too highly." F. B. Johnson & Co.

WILL GIVE WARNING OF ENCROACHING ICE

Scout Cruiser Will Patrol the Steamship Lanes.

Washington, May 18.—The scout cruiser Birmingham will leave the Philadelphia navy yard tomorrow to make a comprehensive study of the ice fields in the track of trans-Atlantic navigation. It was announced at the navy department that the Birmingham will send frequent reports of the position of ice packs and bergs found in the neighborhood of the steamship lanes. The information thus yielded will be promptly distributed for the information of trans-Atlantic shipping interests. Officers of the Birmingham will be expected to determine the southern, eastern and western limits of the ice fields, and report at once the latitude and longitude of all bergs encountered. It is expected the Birmingham will continue this investigation for at least a month, unless the ice now in southern waters disappears sooner.

ANCIENT CUSTOM

Will Be Followed When Dead King's Favorite Horse Is Shot.

Copenhagen, May 18.—The members of the municipality boarded the yacht on the deck of which the royal family had gathered about the coffin of the late King Frederick. The queen mother greeted and shook hands with them, after which the coffin was landed. The queen mother was very much affected and walked with difficulty. She was supported by her son, King Christian X.

Before the procession started the king caressed his father's favorite Arab horse, which will be shot according to custom, and said: "My poor friend, how grieved I am that you will never again carry your beloved master."

Socialists' Prophecies.

While the Republicans and Democrats are choosing delegates to the national conventions which are more than a month in the distance, the Socialist party is holding its own assemblage. It is in session at Indianapolis and is expected to last several days. The usual boasts are being made about the conquests which are just ahead of it.

Some of the orators declare that it will poll 2,000,000 votes this year, while others, more modest, say that 1,000,000 are all that it can reasonably look for. As we heard similar claims made at this time in the campaign of 1908, and as Debs, that party's presidential candidate, obtained a total of only 420,000, or just 18,000 more than he won in 1904, the present prophecies of the boomers at Indianapolis are not likely to frighten either the Republican or the Democratic campaign managers.

Yesterday Debs was renominated a fourth time. There is much speculation as to whether Debs is a strong enough man to compete with the new situation which has entered into the party's elements. Of this the St. Louis Globe Democrat says:

The situation which the Socialists face in 1912 is different from that which confronted them in 1908 or in any previous year. A revolutionary element, the Industrial Workers of the World, is to have some influence in the convention which has just opened in Indianapolis. The I. W. W. say that Socialism, as conducted along to this time, is too slow and too peaceful for them. They declare, in the words of one of their leaders, that "salvation will not come through a Socialist majority of intellectuals in the House of Representatives or the Senate, but through a minority of determined workingmen leading the masses into battle in the economic field." This is belligerent talk. It is more robust than anything ever heard from Congressman Berger, ex-Mayor Seidel or any other recognized Socialist chieftain in recent times. It evidently means war on society. It would make the program of the Debs rebels in the Chicago railway strike of 1904 national.

The advent of this new specter in the political field gives a peculiar interest to the Socialist national gathering. The aim of the I. W. W. is to wage persistent war against capital, to incite strikes in all the industries. Wages and hours of work are not of any consequence in these outbreaks except as pretexts. The aim is to irritate, to exhaust and to impoverish capital, so as to put industry of all sorts in the hands of the workers. If this policy of destruction forces itself into the Indianapolis platform its ticket would need to be headed by a more stalwart propagandist even than Debs, who led the Socialist party in the three latest national campaigns. The occasion would demand a man of greater physical courage than Debs, a man of the Robespierre type. William D. Haywood, formerly a prominent chieftain in the Western Federation of Miners, could take a role of this sort better than anybody else whom the public sees.

Early Vegetables.

It is easy for the economic philosopher to account for some of the increased cost of living in the United States when he looks over any market or provision store in a northern city.

Twenty years ago the ordinary middle class in the North never expected to get any strawberries much before June 15. It was customary in many families to order southern fruit for Memorial day, May 30, as a special holiday treat, but then there would be a gap until native berries came along.

Now the majority of families get strawberries early in May, transported many miles at high freight rates and cold storage.

And yet if our country is really growing more prosperous, it ought to be so that the workingman should have some of these semi-luxuries. They add zest to appetite when the palate is weary of the canned goods of winter. They promote health and physical well being.

They have developed great industries in the South that employ a small army of laborers in a healthful occupation.

There is a demand, however, for unseasonable early fruits and vegetables that is wasteful. To meet it, these products are picked before they are ripe, are transported great distances, and often come in very poor condition, wilted or decayed, where they can not satisfy any normal ap-

Editorialettes.

We herald with delight the news from Andersonville that there will be no mushrooms this year.

There is a discordant note of sadness in this even at that. It may make the death toll larger because there is a certain number of people who display their knowledge of mushrooms by going out and gathering a lot of toadstools. If there are none of the former, they will most certainly bring in a basketfull of the latter and gulp them down just to prove they are not fearful of their own judgment.

'Tis a sad old world. And right at the season, too, when the fellow who rocks the boat is on duty.

But why be so pessimistic? The editor of the Andersonville Herald notes with display type—which is justified because of the importance of the item—that green hunters are plentiful.

This infers the gladsome tidings that there's a good crop.

William Dudley Foulke, erstwhile Richmond editor, spoke in commemoration of the peace movement in Indianapolis yesterday. It might be pertinent to remark that peace might be restored if Dudley and a few more of his ilk would stop talking and retire to the privateness of their homes which would be becoming.

The keynote of the county auditor's meeting in Indianapolis was: "Less Work; More Pay. That strikes us as a pretty good slogan for ye ed. It has long been adopted by a number of people.

High School Notes

By A. Spider

Byron Wainwright was absent this week.

B3 class had a test in Geometry Tuesday.

Mary Harrold was absent Wednesday.

The Seniors took their examinations Friday. They will have a vacation until next Friday when they will return for their reports.

Prof. Smelser gave a talk to the high school yesterday on Peace day. In his lecture he pointed out that war was being abolished and that disputes between countries were settled by arbitration, at the "Hague."

The A3 Vergil class had a test Friday.

The B3 Latin class had a debate one day this week.

The final examinations will be held Wednesday. There will be no school Thursday, and Friday afternoon the reports will be given out.

The high school hates to see the Seniors leave because they are all good scouts and a friendly bunch of "kids."

The B3 English class will have a debate next Tuesday. The question is "Resolved, That Samuel Johnson Was Insane."

The Junior class of the Rushville high school entertained the Seniors last night at the home of Mary Carr in Perkins street. A most enjoyable evening was spent by the two classes and the high school faculty. Forty-one Seniors and twenty-eight Juniors were present.

The house was beautifully decorated with smilax and snowballs. A large pennant of old gold and black, the Junior class colors, adorned the north wall by the stairs. The large veranda was decorated with lanterns. Music was furnished by Montani of Indianapolis. Punch was served throughout the evening.

A feature of the program was a play, a "come off" on Shakespeare. The play was entitled "Ladies Speak at Last." The scene was laid on a veranda. The girls who took part in the play knew and acted their parts perfectly. The following girls took part: "Lady MacBeth," Agnes Higgs; "Ophelia," Lillian Hurst; "Juliet," Bessie Bates; "Portia," Mary Harrold. After the play light refreshments were served. The members of the Junior class who entertained the Seniors are: Robert Anderson, Bessie Bates, Weldon Brann, Sadie Broadhead, Grace Billings, Lawrence Cameron, Mary Carr, Glass Darnell, Rubie Daubenspeck, Pauline Felts, Frank Griffin, Harry Hall, Mary Harrold, Agnes Higgs, Louis Hiner, Katharine Hitt, Edith Hogsett, Lillian Hurst, Josephine Kelley, Howard Miller, Earl Roam, Sue Anna Sexton, Levi Shortridge, Russell Skipton, Myrtle Smazel, Fannie Stiers, Helen Wilson, Byron Wainwright.

YOU KNOW HIM?

Colozio Seavarsci and Miss Della Peckinpaugh were quietly wedded the other night. They had hoped to keep it a secret, but friends of the couple who thought it too good to keep let it be known and the word was passed around. Colozio succeeded in getting his naturalization papers only a few weeks ago. When he declared his intentions, his friends accused him of having designs on cupid. He came here two years ago with the Adams Construction Company which paved Main and Second streets. Most people know Colozio as Charley Jim. He's a fixture now. Charley hails from Sunny Italy.

TAFT WILL BE IN RICHMOND MONDAY

President Will Arrive There at 10:20 a. m. and Will Leave Soon After For Greenville.

MAY SPEAK A FEW MINUTES

William Howard Taft, president of the United States, will be in Richmond a few minutes Monday morning, says the Richmond Palladium, and it is probable there will be a large crowd present at the Pennsylvania station to greet him. It is not known whether he will make an address, but it is possible he will deliver a few remarks regarding his candidacy for re-nomination. However, the president is in very bad voice, owing to the strenuousness of his Ohio campaign and it may be that he will decide not to waste any of his thunder on an Indiana audience, the voters of which State have already selected their delegates to the Republican national convention.

President Taft will arrive on his special train at Eaton, O., Monday morning at 9:30 and will speak there for a half hour, leaving for Richmond at 9:50 and arriving here at 10:20. From here the presidential special will go direct to Greenville, Ohio, where the president is scheduled to deliver an address.

AMUSEMENTS

The Princess has two dramas for tonight. "Mrs. Carter's Necklaze" is a Vitagraph featuring Maurice Costello. It tells a thrilling story and is a powerful drama. The other is a Lubin, "His Wife's Mother." Monday the attraction, "How States Are Made" will be featured.

The Palace has the usual two pictures tonight. "The Kid and the Sleuth" is a fine Imp picture. The second is a Reliance drama, "The Gambler's Daughter."

The Portola will have a complete change tonight showing three reels of pictures. "You Remember Ellen" is a Kalem drama. The second picture is "Pathe Weekly No. 10." "Irene's Infatuation" is the title of a Vitagraph comedy. Special music is also on the program.

BLOOD POISONING MAY KILL AGED MAN

Fred Kolkmeier, Age 79, is in Precarious Condition as Result of Being Burned.

FIRE FROM LIGHTED CIGARS

Fred Kolkmeier, 79 years old, will probably die as the result of an accident he suffered a month ago. At that time he was severely burned in an unusual manner and has now contracted blood poisoning. No hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Mr. Kolkmeier had been to Shelbyville and while returning to his home lighted a cigar. The match set fire to the laprobe and before the aged man was aware of his predicament his clothing was ablaze. He leaped from the buggy and a passerby helped extinguish the flames. As a result of the accident the flesh from his ankle to the knee on the underside of his left leg was sluffed off, permitting the ligaments to be visible. He is a farmer and lives with his son, Ed Kolkmeier four miles north of St. Paul.

SOCIETY NEWS

Mrs. Chauncey W. Duncan gave an "afternoon" party Thursday, in honor of her guest, Miss Marie Crosby of Rushville, says the Greenfield Reporter. Needlework and social conversation occupied the afternoon. The hostess served dainty refreshments of pink ice cream, cake and coffee.

The Rev. Allie Stith, pastor of the Ninth Street Baptist church, who recently moved here from Erlanger, Ky., was given a shower by about thirty-five of his friends last night at his home in West Tenth street. They received many useful presents, among them several cans of fruit. Due to the hospitality of the Rev. Mr. Stith and his wife everyone enjoyed a good time.

Mrs. Oliver O'Brien entertained with a card party at her home in North Jackson street yesterday afternoon, honoring Mrs. John Lubbe, who will leave for Chicago next Tuesday afternoon for permanent residence. About twenty-five invited guests were present. A two-course luncheon was served. Mrs. Lubbe received first honors and Mrs. Sylvester Kirkpatrick, second.

for the nomination we are pushing the Gate business with great success, and do not care who wins so long as the demand for gates, counties and states increases.

The States of Illinois and Kansas Heard From

Both of the above named States have been sold within the past six weeks to good reliable business men. Kansas is now being worked by the parties who purchased it with flattering results. The parties owning Illinois will take up the work about September 1st. The counties in this state are being sold rapidly and we expect to close them out within the next 60 days. We still have several of the best states for sale including Ohio, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Missouri and others. Anyone looking for a larger investment than a county will find a state properly handled, MEANS A FORTUNE. It costs you nothing to investigate this business and I will be pleased to go over the matter with anyone who might become interested if they will call at my office.

Reminiscences of SHERLOCK HOLMES

by Arthur Conan Doyle
Illustrations by V.L. Barnes

For a moment I wished that I were armed. Sterndale's fierce face turned to a dusky red, his eyes glared, and the knotted, passionate veins started out in his forehead, while he sprang forward with clenched hands towards my companion. Then he stopped, and with a violent effort he resumed a cold, rigid calmness which was, perhaps, more suggestive of danger than his hot-headed outburst.

"I have lived so long among savages and beyond the law," said he, "that I have got into a way of being a law to myself. You would do well, Mr. Holmes, not to forget it, for I have no desire to do you an injury." "Nor have I any desire to do you an injury, Dr. Sterndale. Surely the clearest proof of it is that, knowing what I know, I have sent for you and not for the police."

Sterndale sat down with a gasp, overawed, perhaps, the first time in his adventurous life. There was a calm assurance of power in Holmes' manner which could not be withstood. Our visitor stammered for a moment, his great hands opening and shutting in his agitation.

"What do you mean?" he asked, at last. "If this is bluff upon your part, Mr. Holmes, you have chosen a bad man for your experiment. Let us have no more beating about the bush. What do you mean?"

"I will tell you," said Holmes, "and the reason why I tell you is that I hope frankness may beget frankness. What my next step may be will depend entirely upon the nature of your own defense."

"My defense."

"Yes, sir."

"My defense against what?"

"Against the charge of killing Mortimer Tregennis."

Sterndale mopped his forehead with his handkerchief. "Upon my word, you are getting on," said he. "Do all your successes depend upon this prodigious power of bluff?"

"The bluff," said Holmes, sternly.

A Thick Black Cloud Swirled Before My Eyes.

"Is upon your side, Dr. Leon Sterndale, and not upon mine. As a proof

GERM LADEN DUST CAUSES CATARRH

Ely's Cream Balm Kills the Deadly Catarrh Germs. No Stomach Dosing.

Catarrh, which is bad enough in itself, often results in loss of taste, smell and hearing, and leads to serious throat and lung troubles if not promptly checked. The seat of catarrh is usually in the back of the nose, and its natural course is downward, into the throat and thence to the lungs.

Don't take any chances. If you have any symptoms of catarrh—stuffed up feeling in the head, nasty discharge from the nose, sore throat, or dry, hacking cough, get a fifty-cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and begin the treatment at once.

This remedy is not a "burning out" or "drying up" process. It is simply a cleansing, healing, antiseptic Balm, taken through the nostrils back into the head and throat where it instantly reaches the seat of the trouble. That's the only way to effectually and permanently cure catarrh.

Catarrh makes you offensive to yourself and friends. Start using Ely's Cream Balm today, and in a short time you will be permanently cured of this nasty, disgusting disease. Hargrove & Mullin, special agents.

MAKES PIMPLES GO

Remarkable How Zemo Clears the Face of Pimples and all Other Blemishes.

With the finger tips apply a little Zemo to the skin, then see the pimples and blackheads vanish. Zemo is a liquid not a smear, leaves no trace, just simply sings in and does the work. You will be astonished to find how quickly eczema, rash, dandruff, itch, liver spots, salt rheum, and all other skin diseases are cured.

Zemo is put up by the E. W. Rose Medicine Co., St. Louis Mo., and is regularly sold by all druggists at $1 for the large bottle, but you can get a liberal size trial bottle for only 25 cents. And this trial bottle is guaranteed. You surely will find Zemo a wonder. Get a bottle from F. E. Wolcott's Drug Store.

I will tell you some of the facts upon which my conclusions are based. Of your return to Plymouth, allowing much of your property to go on to Africa, I will say nothing save that it first informed me that you were one of the factors which had to be taken into account in reconstructing this drama.

"I came back—" "I have heard your reasons and regard them as unconvincing and inadequate. We will pass that. You came down here to ask me whom I suspected. I refused to answer you. You then went to the vicarage, waited outside it for some time, and finally returned to your cottage."

"How do you know that?"

"I followed you."

"I saw no one."

"That is what you may expect to see when I follow you. You spent a night at your cottage, and you formed certain plans, which in the early morning you proceeded to put into execution. Leaving your door just as day was breaking, you filled your pocket with some reddish gravel which was lying beside your gate."

Sterndale gave a violent start and looked at Holmes in amazement.

"You then walked swiftly for the mile which separated you from the vicarage. You were wearing, I may remark, the same pair of ribbed tennis shoes which are at the present moment upon your feet. At the vicarage you passed through the orchard and the side hedge, coming out under the window of the lodger, Tregennis. It was now daylight, but the household was not yet stirring. You drew some of the gravel from your pocket, and you threw it up at the window above you."

Sterndale sprang to his feet.

"I believe that you are the devil himself!" he cried.

Holmes smiled at the compliment. "It took two, or possibly three, hand-fuls before the lodger came to the window. You beckoned him to come down. He dressed hurriedly and descended to his sitting-room. You entered the window. There was an interview—a short one—during which you walked up and down the room. Then you passed out and closed the window, standing on the lawn outside smoking a cigar and watching what occurred. Finally, after the death of Tregennis, you withdrew as you had come. Now, Dr. Sterndale, how do you justify such conduct, and what were the motives of your actions? If you prevaricate or trifle with me, I give you my assurance that the matter will pass out of my hands forever."

"You Sent for Me, Mr. Holmes."

Our visitor's face had turned ashen gray as he listened to the words of his accuser. Now he sat for some time in thought with his face sunk in his hands. Then, with a sudden impulsive gesture, he plucked a photograph from his breast pocket and threw it on the rustic table before us. "That is why I have done it," said he.

It showed the bust and face of a very beautiful woman. Holmes stooped over it. "Brenda Tregennis," said he. "Yes, Brenda Tregennis," repeated our visitor. "For years I have loved her. For years she has loved me. That is the secret of that Cornish seclusion which people have marveled at. It has brought me close to the one thing on earth that was dear to me. I could not marry her, for I have a wife who has left me for years, and yet whom, by the deplorable laws of England, I could not divorce. For years I waited. And this is what we have waited for." A terrible sob shook his great frame, and he clutched his throat under his bristle beard. Then with an effort he mastered himself and spoke on.

"The vicar knew. He was in our confidence. He would tell you that she was an angel upon earth. That was why he telegraphed to me and I returned. What was my baggage or Africa to me when I learned that such a fate had come upon my darling? There you have the missing clue to my action, Mr. Holmes."

"Proceed," said my friend. Dr. Sterndale drew from his pocket a paper packet and laid it upon the table. On the outside was written, "Radix pedis diaboli," with a red poison label beneath it. He pushed it towards me. "I understand that you are a doctor, sir. Have you ever heard of this preparation?"

"Devil's-foot root! No, I have never heard of it."

"It is no reflection upon your professional knowledge," said he, "for I believe that, save for one sample in a laboratory at Buda, there is no other specimen in Europe. It has not yet found its way either into the pharmacopoeia, or into the literature of toxicology. The root is shaped like a foot, half human, half goatlike; hence the fanciful name given by a botanical missionary. It is used as an ordeal poison by the medicine-men in certain districts of West Africa, and is kept a secret among them. This particular specimen I obtained under very extraordinary circumstances in the Ubanghi country." He opened the paper as he spoke, and disclosed a heap of reddish-brown, snuff-like powder.

"Well, sir?" said Holmes, sternly. "I am about to tell you, Mr. Holmes, all that actually occurred, for you already know so much that it is clearly to my interest that you should know all. I have already explained the relationship in which I stood to the Tregennis family. For the sake of the sister I was friendly with the brothers. There was a family quarrel about money which estranged this man Mortimer, but it was supposed to be made up, and I afterwards met him as I did the others. He was a sly, subtle, scheming man, and several things arose which gave me a suspicion of him, but I had no cause for any positive quarrel."

"One day, only a couple of weeks ago, he came down to my cottage and I showed him some of my African curiosities. Among other things, I exhibited this powder, and I told him of its strange properties, how it stimulates those brain centers which control the emotion of fear, and how either madness or death is the fate of the unhappy native who is subjected to the ordeal by the priest of his tribe. I told him also how powerless European science would be to detect it. How he took it I cannot say, for I never left the room, but there is no doubt that it was then, while I was opening cabinets and stooping to boxes, that he managed to abstract some of the devil's-foot root. I will remember how he pined me with questions as to the amount and the time that was needed for its effect, but I little dreamed that he could have a personal reason for asking."

"I thought no more of the matter until the vicar's telegram reached me at Plymouth. This villain had thought that I would be at sea before the news could reach me, and that I should be lost for years in Africa. But I returned at once. Of course, I could not listen to the details without feeling assured that my poison had been used. I came round to see you on the chance that some other explanation

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

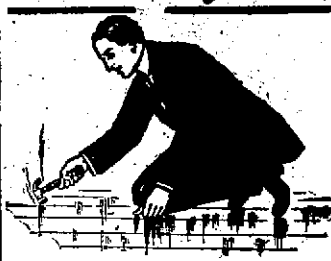

There is nothing new about the idea of using Sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our grandmothers kept their hair dark, glossy and abundant by the use of a simple "Sage Tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of Sage leaves, and applied it to their hair with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves; and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing Sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

This preparation gives youthful color and beauty to the hair, and is one of the best remedies you can use for dandruff, dry, feverish, itching scalp, and falling hair. Get a fifty-cent bottle from your druggist today, and you will be surprised at the quick results. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

EDWARD CROSBY, Rushville, Ind.

had suggested itself to you. But there could be none. I was convinced that Mortimer Tregennis was the murderer; that for the sake of money, and with the idea, perhaps, that if the other members of his family were all insane he would be the sole guardian of their joint property, he had used the devil's-foot powder upon them, driven two of them out of their senses, and killed his sister Brenda, the one human being whom I have ever loved, or who has ever loved me. There was his crime; what was to be his punishment?

"Should I appeal to the law? Where were my proofs? I knew that the facts were true, but could I help to make a jury of countrymen believe so fantastic a story? I might or I might not. But I could not afford to fail. My soul cried out for revenge. I have said to you once before, Mr. Holmes, that I have spent much of my life outside the law, and that I have come at last to be a law to myself. So it was now. I determined that the fate which he had given to others should be shared by himself. Either that, or I would do justice upon him with my own hand. In all England there can be no man who sets less value upon his own life than I do at the present moment."

"Now I have told you all. You have yourself supplied the rest. I did, as you say, after a restless night, set off early from my cottage. I foresaw the difficulty of arousing him, so I gathered some gravel from the pile which you have mentioned, and I used it to throw up to his window. He came down and admitted me through the window of the sitting-room. I laid his offense before him. I told him I had come both as judge and executioner. The wretch sank into a chair paralyzed at the sight of my revolver. I lit the lamp, put the powder above it, and stood outside the window, ready to carry out my threat to shoot him should he try to leave the room. In five minutes he died. My God! how he died! But my heart was flint, for he endured nothing which my innocent darling had not felt before him. There is my story, Mr. Holmes. Perhaps, if you loved a woman, you would have done as much yourself. At any rate, I am in your hands. You can take what steps you like. As I have already said, there is no man living who can fear death less than I do."

Holmes sat for some time in silence. "What were your plans?" he asked, at last.

"I had intended to bury myself in Central Africa. My work there is but half finished."

"Go and do the other half," said Holmes. "I, at least, am not prepared to prevent you."

Dr. Sterndale raised his giant figure, bowed gravely, and walked from the arbor. Holmes lit his pipe and handed me his pouch.

"Some fumes which are not poisonous would be a welcome change," said he. "I think you must agree, Watson, that it is not a case in which we are called upon to interfere. Our investigation has been independent, and our action shall be also. You would not denounce the man?"

"Certainly not," I answered.

"I have never loved, Watson, but if I did, and if the woman I loved had met such an end, I might act even as our lawless lion-hunter has done. Who knows? Well, Watson, I will not offend your intelligence by explaining what is obvious. The gravel under the window-sill was, of course, the starting point of my research. It was unlike anything in the vicarage garden. Only when my attention had been drawn to Dr. Sterndale and his cottage did I find its counterpart. The lamp shining in broad daylight and the remains of powder upon the shield were successive links in a fairly obvious chain. And now, my dear Watson, I think we may dismiss the matter from our minds, and go back with a clear conscience to the study of those Chaldean roots which are surely to be traced in the Cornish branch of the great Celtic speech."

Both suffered from a severe cold and coughed at night. The medicine prescribed failed to stop their coughing so Mr. Shank took the matter into his own hands and says: "I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and after a few doses they went to sleep and slept throughout the night without coughing." SOME HOT DISHES FOR COLD NIGHTS.

There is nothing more satisfying and warming on a damp, chilly night than a good bowl of hot soup. Cream soups of different kinds may be had every night in the week, and the variety not run out.

One may have tomato bisque, thickened the cream of tomato for a change, or potato with a little onion and milk makes a most appetizing soup.

Another favorite dish is:

Spanish Rice.—Into a buttered baking dish put a layer of cooked rice, sprinkle with finely cut broiled ham, or fried ham, a sprinkling of onion grated and seasoning of red and green pepper chopped, salt and then another layer of rice. Pour over a generous amount of tomato, and bake until thoroughly heated through. The seasoning of this dish will make or mar it.

Southern Rice.—Melt a tablespoonful of butter in a frying pan, add a clove of garlic and a large chopped onion, a cup of washed rice. Keep stirring the rice until it is slightly brown and crisp. Then add a cup of tomato and fill the pan with boiling water. Cook until the rice is tender without stirring if possible, as each grain will stand out by itself.

Chicken Stew.—Cut up a chicken with a clove of garlic and two small onions; cook until half done, then add the following sauce:

Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a frying pan; add a tablespoonful of flour and a generous sprinkling of cayenne. When well cooked add salt and a cup of tomatoes; stir and cook, adding salt and sage, if liked.

Poached eggs are very nice for a supper dish with the above sauce.

A mixture of lard and suet makes a very desirable fat for almost all uses that lard would be put to. The soft beef fat is the best.

Nellie Maxwell.

There are people in this town who unthinkingly neglect a "mere cold" though they would not otherwise expose their children or themselves to danger. Yet a cold neglected may develop into contagious diphtheria, bronchitis, and pneumonia. Use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly for it stops coughs quickly and cures colds. In contains no opiates and is safe for children. F. B. Johnson & Co.

record as being in sympathy with the strikers. The most discussion resulted over a motion by Miss Maley, in effect that men hereafter applying for membership in the party must recognize the right of women to vote. There was strong opposition to it, but it was carried by a vote of 135 to 86. The committee which had been considering the subject of the attitude of the party toward organized labor reported a compromise between the advocates of craft organization and William D. Haywood, who has stood for industrial union. The compromise recognizes the right of labor to organize by crafts and urges all young men who are eligible to become members of unions. The police having withdrawn opposition to the "red flag" parade, the delegates marched in the downtown streets last night, each of them carrying a small red flag.

POULTRY

POULTRY HOUSE FOR FARMER
Expensive and Elaborate Structure is Not Necessary, but Dry, Well Ventilated One is.

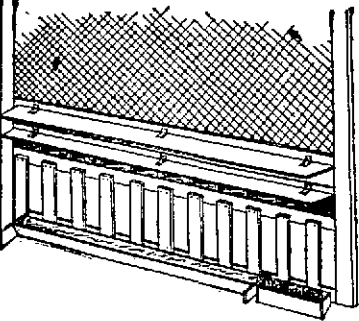

(By J. W. GRIFFIN.)
The size of our home poultry-building is 16x40 feet, 6 feet at the front eave, and 7 at the rear eave, and 8 feet at the comb. The floor should be the natural earth if the house is located on a well drained place. If not, there should, of course, be a plank floor.

For the convenience of the keeper, the building should be divided into three rooms in the front part; the hallway at the rear should run the entire length of the building. The hallway is 4 feet wide; this will leave the three rooms 12x13 feet. The partitions between these rooms should be made solid two and one-half feet high. The rest of the partition can be of poultry-wire netting.

The upper part of the partition between the hallway and the rooms is made of wire netting. In the hallway we keep the supply of food for the poultry, and a few barrels of road-dust that we gather up during a dry time in the summer. This is for the dust-boxes during the winter, when the hens should not be out on the cold ground.

The watering and feeding troughs are set along the slatted partition, just inside the hallway; the chickens reach through between the slats for their food and water.

The nests are placed on a platform just above the slatted part of the partition, and the dropping-board is placed on the nest-boxes, and the perches on the dropping-boards.

The platform for the nests, the dropping-boards, and the perches are put in in divisions, three of 13 feet each. This facilitates the cleaning as all of the interior arrangements are removed at housecleaning-time, which is twice a year—spring and fall.

This is the general cleaning time; the pens are cleaned each week, and the dropping-boards each day. The manure saved by cleaning the dropping-boards each day from a hundred hens pays handsomely, not only in the value of the manure, but in keeping the house cleanly. The boxes are each one complete within itself.

The openings of the curtained windows are covered with poultry netting. The house is made perfectly tight except the curtained windows. There is a ventilator in each end at the gable for summer ventilation.

The floors of the pens should be covered with cut straw, or better still, dry leaves gathered in the fall and stored away to be used through the winter.

The grain food when scattered in these leaves or straw gives the fowls the much needed exercise. The dry mash-feeds and meat-scrap, etc., are fed in the troughs.

Poultry House.

The interior should be thoroughly sprayed with lime-and-sulphur solution. Use equal parts of lime and sulphur in making the whitewash and you will not be troubled with lice, chiggers or mites that trouble the poultry.

Corrective for Overeating.
Charcoal is an excellent corrective of the evils of injudicious overfeeding, and is also a good remedy in bowel disorders in poultry. Having wonderful absorbent powers, especially for gases, only a small quantity should be put into the feed hoppers at a time on account of its absorptive nature.

It should be kept in a thoroughly dry vessel with a close-fitting cover, so as to exclude the air. If charcoal is heated well before given to the poultry, it will have a tendency to drive off the impurities which may have become absorbed, and it will be equal to fresh charcoal.

Keep Off the Grass.
Little chickens should be kept off the grass as much as possible, when it is wet with dew. The hen should be well fed and watered, so that she may rest content in the coop; then if the little ones range far enough on their own account to get damp, they have a dry mother to return to and will take no hurt.

THE TIGERS GO OUT ON STRIKE

Refuse to Play Unless Cobb Is Reinstated.

AN UNPRECEDENTED SITUATION

When Star of Detroit Team Punched Face of Insolent New Yorker, Ban Johnson Indefinitely Suspended Him—Now His Teammates Declare That So Long as This Suspension Holds They Will Not Play.

New York, May 18.—Over in Philadelphia a situation unprecedented in organized baseball has been created. Detroit players, in sympathy with Ty Cobb in his action in punching a spectator at the American League park, New York, last Wednesday, resented the sentence of indefinite suspension inflicted on the star by Ban Johnson, by declaring they would not play ball again unless Cobb is at once reinstated.

The Detroit team virtually has mutinied, and unless the players cool down and weaken on their expressed determination not to play, there is likely to be drastic action by the powers that be and action which will affect American League affairs to a far-reaching extent. The Tiger players are an angry lot. They sent a telegram to Johnson, saying in substance that they feel that Cobb was unjustly treated and unless the matter is adjusted to their satisfaction and Cobb reinstated, there will be no further games. Johnson received word of the players' action enroute to Cincinnati, at Syracuse.

"Detroit will play or it will cost somebody a snug sum of money," was Johnson's somewhat cryptic answer to the threat. The executive went on to say that Cobb would not be seen in the line-up today and that he would not play for some time. "The suspension has not been lifted and will not be until all the evidence possible relative to the affair is in my hands," said Johnson.

When President Navin of Detroit heard of the affair, he said that if the players struck he would have to get another team to take their places or pay $5,000 a day forfeit or relinquish his franchise.

All sorts of rumors have come out of Philadelphia. One was that the Athletics players waited on Mack and told him that if the Detroit men refused to take the field, they (the Athletics) would do likewise.

SQUATTERS' RIGHTS

Recognized and Accorded by a Jury at Michigan City.

Michigan City, Ind., May 18.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Drusilla Carr of Miller, Lake county, against Mrs. Rose Hiit and others has just returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff.

According to the verdict, Mrs. Carr is entitled to 157 acres of land on the shore of Lake Michigan, worth $1,500 an acre, or a total of $235,500 for the entire tract. Before Gary was built the land was hardly worth its taxes.

Mrs. Carr's title, according to the verdict, is by virtue of possession for more than twenty years. Mrs. Carr and her husband "squatted" on the land thirty-six years ago, and the latter engaged in fishing, hunting and trapping. Mrs. Carr had a small house on the land, and said that her right to the property had never been disputed until the rise of Gary made it valuable. The trial had been in progress nearly three weeks, and fifteen lawyers were employed. This was the second trial, the first having brought a disagreement a year ago at Valparaiso. It is asserted that the city of Gary was behind Mrs. Carr in her action to quiet the title, as the city wishes to take the property for park purposes.

An Increase of $4,622,417.
Indianapolis, May 18.—The state board of tax commissioners has completed its preliminary valuation of corporation property assessable by it. ANTHRACITE MINERS
NOW ARE FOR PEACE

President White Wins Over the Malcontents.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 18.—Miners in convention will adopt the tentative agreement offered them by the operators, so the leaders declare, and will be ordered back to work the early part of next week. Thus peace is assured in the anthracite fields for a period of four years.

President White's address, in which he laid bare the numerical and financial strength of the union, started to turn the tide. Last night 200 foreigners, most of whom have opposed the peace offer, assembled at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium and decided to vote for the agreement. This was the real turning point, and is the best proof that White is complete master of the situation. As the hour of the voting approaches there is no doubt in the minds of the leaders of the final outcome.

A vote will be taken on the agreement this afternoon, and the officials are positive that there will be a big majority for adoption and that peace will come for a term of four years.

COUNTY COUNCIL CALLED IN SESSION

Will Meet Monday, May 27, to Appropriate Money to Repair
Court House.

FARMERS FUEL CO. GETS JUDGMENT

Judge Blair Allows Them $30.20
Against George Murphy, a Director of the Concern.

ROOF IS IN BAD CONDITION

Jesse Stone, county auditor, today issued a call for a special session of the county council to be held a week from next Monday, May 27. The call states that the purpose of the meeting is to make additional appropriations for the repair of the court house and the county power house, and for any other business that may properly come before the county council. The attention of the county officials to the condition of the court house was called by the grand jury during the February term of court. It recommended in its report that steps be taken at once to put the building in good repair. A very few dollars have been spent on it since it was completed February 2, 1898. The roof leaks in many places, and contractors who have inspected it say the cheapest course to pursue would be to replace it with a whole new roof. At a special session a few weeks ago the council indicated it would meet inside a month to take up the matter of repairing the court house.

COURT "DARK" MOST OF DAY

Judge Blair was here long enough today to return a decision in the case of the Farmers Fuel Company of Gings against George Murphy, which was heard Friday, May third, and returned to his home in Shelbyville this afternoon. He found for the plaintiff in the sum of $30.20.

Murphy was a director of the company. The plaintiff alleged Murphy sold a gas well for $210 and only turned in $125. Murphy's defense was that he had received only $125 for the well, but that the man to whom he sold it received $210 for it. The plaintiff asked for $100.

Mayor Black Invited to Indianapolis
by Mayor Shank.

Mayor Black has received an invitation from Mayor Shank to attend the municipal parade in Indianapolis on the afternoon of May 24. Mayor Shank has sent invitations to the mayors of all the surrounding cities. An effort will be made to obtain sufficient automobiles for all the visitors to ride in the parade. Owing to the fact that a number of Indiana cities contemplate installing motor fire apparatus and police automobiles, the parade will be of exceptional interest to outside officials.

Clad in White, A Lovely Sight

Of Interest to All Ladies, But But More Especially to the Young Girl Graduate

The first requisite for a beautifully finished frock is honestly made material—this we offer you in an extraordinary display of white goods made from a thread that is spun from the famous Egyptian long fibre cotton, necessitating none of those unsightly knots in the finished product. Besides these, there are the French Lawns, Lyklins, Flaxons, Voiles, Marquisesettes and many other dainty sheer materials.

Embroideries and Laces have a just claim upon you this season. Voile, batiste, and swiss flouncings with Venise and Filet insertions in attractive patterns are receiving a good share of attention. Vandyke points are a leading feature. Cluny and Shadow laces and all-overs are vying with one another, while Ratine and Macrane are contesting just as spiritedly.

A beautiful pair of white hose, dainty undermuslins, and a neat fitting pair of White Nu-Buck Shoes add their part to the attire.

Then with a pretty neckpiece, fan, and a jaunty parasol, your appearance will be faultless. Should you prefer to avoid the trouble of having your garments made, let us show you some ready to put on lingerie, chiffon or silk. They are exquisite and exclusive.
